

Background

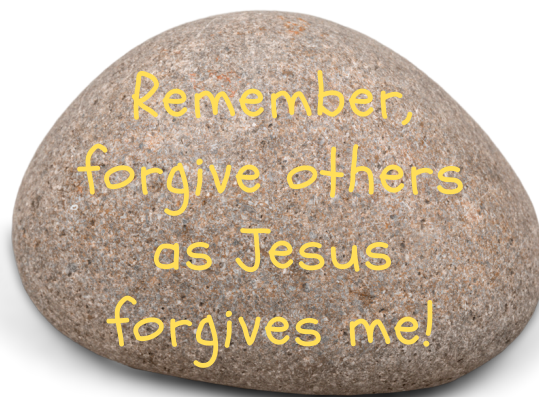

In today's reading, Jesus reminds us that none of us is perfect and we should remember that when we want to point fingers or throw stones at someone else.

You will need:

- a small stone for each child
- marker pens or paint and brushes
- print out of words that could be used

Instructions:

1. Children either choose their own word or one of the words available
2. Children write their word on a stone
3. Children take their stone home and put it somewhere that they will see it when they think they might be tempted to point out someone else's faults
